UGA HALLOOWELLA

Tucked away in the cool climes and quiet hills of Hatton, overlooking the stunning Castlereagh Reservoir, discover the exquisite Uga Halloowella. Steeped in history and heritage, the estate itself was established in 1880 and was once owned by Major Elton Lane, a World War I fighter pilot for the British Royal Air Force. Located in the most idyllic setting in Sri Lanka's iconic hill country, this colonial bungalow sits 1444m above sea level enveloped by lush tea estates, and lovingly restored to its former glory by Uga and renowned Sri Lankan architect Channa Daswatte. With 6 luxurious suites, impeccable dining experiences, expansive lawns, and a gorgeous infinity pool, paired with the warmth of Uga hospitality, Halloowella is the epitome of old-world charm and sophistication.
